

SAYS SPANISH REBELS LOSE

Alice Longworth Says

(Special To The News)
ALBUQUERQUE, July 25.—Governor Landon's acceptance speech is noteworthy for its simplicity, earnestness and total absence of rhetorical flourish or histrionic effort. It was an "every-day American" speaking to his fellow citizens in plain language that needs no interpretation. He went directly to the point, leaving no doubt in the minds of those who heard him as to precisely where he stands on every question he took up.

He fearlessly asserted his belief in the right of workers to join the type of union they prefer without coercion from employer or labor leader.

His condemnation of delegation of power to the president without the people's consent struck at the root of one of the most menacing developments of the past three years.

He struck at another when he promised to use the federal government to break up private monopoly, instead of fostering it as the New Deal set out to do under NRA.

"Human freedom a practical ideal," is evidently no mere figure of speech in Governor Landon's political philosophy.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Pa New would like to see the "Voice of Safety" of the police department tackle the problem of traffic at the public square. It is some problem, even to a pedestrian seeking to get across the streets most any hour of the day.

Family reunion season is in full swing. Hardly a family clan of any size in western Pennsylvania that is not having an annual reunion during the present summer.

Likewise, the idea of school reunions is growing. Most every week another district school is added to the list of those whose old-time students plan to reassemble at the old school for a reunion.

That old tree on the public square is reluctant to become a memorial. Several clusters of leaves have again sprouted out of the top of the trunk that was left standing.

Traffic conditions on the streets the week-ends of this summer reveal probably the heaviest traffic in all history of New Castle.

New Castle will witness the greatest railroad passenger activity the

Warships Begin Bombardment Of Morocco Rebels

Government Seeks To Break Hold Of Revolutionists On Morocco

BIG GUNS POUR SHOT INTO CEUTA

Developments Indicate Many False Reports Broadcast From Radio Stations

(International News Service)
Developments today in the Spanish civil war:

MADRID—Rebel armies, advancing on two fronts, menaced the capital, with the popular fearing they will soon be starved into submission.

GIBRALTAR—Government artillery opened terrific bombardment on rebel towns along the straits, while rebels began offensive against Malaga.

LONDON—Danger to foreigners in Spain momentarily abated with arrival of warships. Hundreds already have been evacuated.

ST. JEAN DE LUZ—Refugees report 300 killed in San Sebastian fighting.

Borbad Ceuta
Gibraltar, July 25.—In a desperate attempt to break the rebel hold on Morocco, Spanish warships opened a terrific bombardment of Ceuta today, meeting stout resistance from insurgents entrenched in the city's ancient fortresses.

The battleship Jaime I, the cruisers Libertad and Miguel de Cervantes and three submarines participated in the government's attack, throwing scores of shells into the city.

Fire from rebel batteries hit a government plane off Algeciras, West of Gibraltar, and the crippled plane crashed into the sea off Marbella, East of Gibraltar.

Air Reports False
In one of their "propaganda" broadcasts from the Pontevedra station yesterday, the rebels blandly announced the Jaime I had been sent to the bottom by rebel planes. Appearance of the battleship off Ceuta in full fighting trim gave full proof of the falsity of this announcement.

The rebels obviously claimed this

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 25.—The exact date of Gov. Alfred M. Landon's campaign appearance at West Middlesex, Pa., his birthplace, will be settled definitely "within the coming week," Republican State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor announced through state headquarters here today.

Taylor, absent from the capitol for a brief vacation, said the definite date for the West Middlesex rally would be announced as soon as possible to facilitate preparations for handling the thousands expected to attend. Governor Landon will speak from a point on the Tam O'Shanter golf course, not far from the house in which he was born.

Townsend Sees Roosevelt Defeat

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 25.—Overwhelming defeat of the present administration was predicted today by Dr. Francis E. Townsend, leader of the crusade of the aged.

He was quite certain who would administer the defeat. He expressed hope it would be Rep. William Lemke, third party candidate, but came close to admitting that it will be Governor Alf. M. Landon.

He explained that his "clubs" will concentrate on local candidates, particularly senators and representatives who will pledge themselves to open the treasury for $200 a month to each person aged 60 or more.

Americans In Spain Rescued By Warships

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The world heaved a sigh of relief today as warships and merchantmen, rushed to blood-drenched Spain, snatched American and other foreign citizens from the seething flames of civil war.

The chill of terror and uncertainty gripping the civilized world was dispelled as vessels dropped anchor in harbors of a half dozen seaport cities and evacuated nationals. Radioed reports of rescues are reaching the state department here hourly.

Clustered At Consulates
For a week, while the bloodiest conflict in Europe since the World War raged unabated, little groups of Americans and citizens of other nations clustered together in the dubious safety of consulates.

Poed and water shortages added suffering to the fear that awaited pillagers might take advantage of the complete breakdown of civil authority and violate the traditional sanctity of the consulates. Frequently hand-to-hand fighting went on in the streets outside.

A wall of silence cloaking many of the Spanish cities in the wake of severed communications and a rigid censorship heightened the anxiety.

Nationals Are Rescued
But late yesterday vessels sped to the rescue by anxious nations, began arriving in Spanish seaport cities and removing nationals from

Grand Jury Hears Story By Wendel

May Call Governor Hoffman Of New Jersey In Abduction Hearing

(International News Service)
NEWARK, N. J., July 25.—Satisfied that Gov. Harold G. Hoffman will appear as a witness should they subpoena him, federal grand jurors today studied Paul H. Wendel's story of how he was kidnapped, forced to confess to the Lindbergh baby abduction, and then transported from Brooklyn to New Jersey.

After hearing Wendel's story, the jury recessed over the week-end but will resume its investigation Monday.

Meanwhile, Governor Hoffman, who said he would appear before the jury if subpoenaed, studied the request of Governor Lehman of New York for extradition of Ellis H. Parker, Sr., Burlington county detective, and his son. The Parkers, along with three others, are under indictment in Brooklyn for the Wendel

Final Hatch Of Season At Jordan Farm

Pheasant Hatching Ends Friday; Grand Total Of 30,500 Produced

WPA WORKERS ARE ERECTING WIRING

On Friday when several thousand little ringneck pheasants stepped from their shells in the Jordan State Game Farm incubators, the hatching season was brought to a close.

The box score at the farm for the season follows:
Number of eggs produced, 72,000.
Number of eggs set, 41,000.
Number of chicks hatched, 30,500.

Although the incubators were in use yesterday for the last time until next spring that does not mean that V. T. Warfel, the head of the farm, and his assistants, will be any less busy. There are 16,000 young birds to be cared for; (the balance of the 30,500 has already been shipped to sportsmen's organizations as day-old chicks for release before the hunting season.)

13,000 In Fields
Of the 16,000 young pheasants at the farm, 13,000 are past the brooding stage and are in the holding fields where a part of them will be developed for use as next year's breeders, and the balance, with the exception of 6 or 7 thousand male (Continued On Page Two)

New Type Auto Tags For State Drivers In 1937

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 25.—Pennsylvania motorists will have a new colorful type of license plates next year, it was revealed today by officials in the state bureau of motor vehicles.

The 1937 plates, which are now being manufactured, will bear the geographic outlines of the state painted in blue as a background for their letters and numerals. The tags, however, will retain their same shape and general outline.

With the blue state background, the edges of the tags and the numerals will be painted yellow, the numerals being stenciled directly on the blue background.

FIREMAN DEAD AS RESULT OF WRECK

(International News Service)
VANDERGRIFT, Pa., July 25.—A 12-year-old boy's desire to flatten a piece of iron caused the fatal wreck of an 88-car Pennsylvania railroad freight train near here, police chief D. L. Johnston declared today.

He identified the boy as William Coy, 12, and said he had told the story to state police and railroad detectives. The boy, Johnston said, was being held at the state police barracks at Greensburg, awaiting arraignment on a charge of malicious mischief.

John E. Konkle, 42, the fireman, a resident of Greensburg, near Pittsburgh, and the father of three children was scalded to death in the wreck. W. C. Devinney, 58, the engineer, of Blairsville, was seriously burned but is recovering in the Allegheny Valley Hospital at Tarentum. Eleven of the cars were wrecked.

The boy admitted, according to Johnston, picking up a piece of old iron, 10 inches long, an inch and a BERLIN, July 25.—Abandoning all hope of reinstatement on the American Olympic team, Mrs. Eleanor Holm Jarrett, backstroke champion, today charged the Olympic committee itself with a "disgraceful" example aboard the liner Manhattan en route to Europe.

Dismissed because she broke training rules, Mrs. Jarrett declared many others beside herself offended in the same fashion but while she was outspoken in her criticism of the committee, she divulged no names as she had threatened to do.

Not Only Offender
"In the first place," she said, "I was not the only athlete to break training rules or stay up after the curfew sounded."

"At least a hundred others offended in the same way."

In her statement, Mrs. Jarrett accused Gustavus T. Kirby of the committee and other officials of mismanagement and neglect.

France Supplies Arms For Spain

Loyalists Being Aided By France In Combatting Rebel Movement

REPORT REBELS GET PLANES FROM ITALY

By MICHAEL WILSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, July 25.—French indignation over the red French government's move to supply Spanish loyalists with arms, airplanes and munitions to combat the rebel movement reached the boiling point today.

As nationalist newspapers revealed details of the arms delivery plans, the senate army, navy and air committees prepared to go to Premier Leon Blum and demand he immediately cancel all orders.

They will insist he flatly forbid export of all arms, and particularly airplanes, to Spain.

Claim Rebels Get Italian Planes.
Leftist newspapers remained silent, but one publication charged General Francisco Franco, Spanish revolt leader, had bought 24 planes from Italy, paying for them in gold through a Hamburg bank.

"Thus Mussolini is arming Spanish Fascists in their fight against a legal government," said Le Populaire. "This is an intolerable interference."

French government aid for its imperiled fellow-leftist regime in Spain brought violent opposition from a surprising quarter today

GOVERNMENT HOLDS LARGEST CITIES

Says Rebels Have Lost Territory As Civil War Has Been In Progress

(Editor's Note: Declaring the back of Spain's revolt has been broken, Jose Giral Pereira, former minister of the navy and now premier, today gave the following resume of the situation in his war-torn country to Thomas A. Loayza, International News Service Correspondent in Madrid.)

BY JOSE GIRAL PEREIRA,
PREMIER OF SPAIN
(Copyright, 1936, by International News Service)

MADRID, July 25.—After one week of fighting practically all over Spain, I can say truthfully and sincerely that the revolt is broken, but I cannot say how long its death struggle will last.

It will be a hard and costly fight, but you must consider we are up against the most formidable military revolt in the history of Spain.

At the start, the rebels held more territory than we did. At present, we hold more than they do.

Our superior position is shown by the fact we hold Spain's three largest and wealthiest cities—Madrid, Barcelona and Bilbao. As for rebels, they control a number of provinces and cities, the most important of which are Seville, Cordova, Saragossa and Burgos. In addition, of course, Morocco is entirely under their control.

Revolt Doomed
The revolt should have succeeded. It had been carefully and thoroughly planned but the navy and air force failed the rebels. This gave us time to arm the people. When this

Slain Girl's Parents Express Confidence In Uncle Now Held

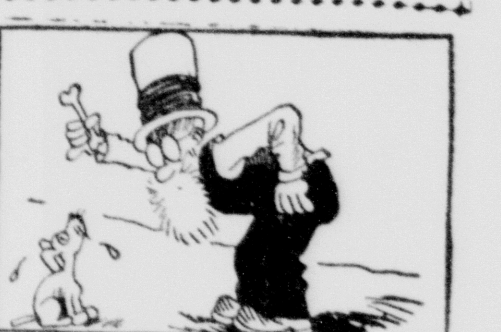

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 25.—The parents of Helen Clevenger, New York University co-ed, slain in Asheville, N. C., today expressed complete confidence in Prof. W. L. Clevenger, the dead girl's uncle, and resented the action of Asheville authorities in holding him for questioning.

At the Clevenger home in Great Kills, L. I., the parents secluded themselves from questioners, but delegated Dr. Melvin Dresbach, another uncle of the slain girl, to make known the family's attitude.

Dr. Dresbach, a brother of Mrs. Clevenger, after a conference with the family, said:

"You may say on behalf of the whole family that we all have the utmost confidence in Will (Prof. Clevenger) and know there is nothing he would not do to help solve this case."

CONVICT TORTURE MURDERER

Death Sentence For Robt. James

Los Angeles Snake Torture Murder Trial Comes To End Last Night

CONVICTED MAN RETAINS CALM

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, July 25.—With all hope abandoned, but still the nerveless paradox who has puzzled observers through six weeks of trial, Robert S. James sat in a solitary cell here today reconciled to death on the gallows for the fiendish snake-torture murder of his seventh wife.

The 39-year-old "Bluebeard barber" was found guilty late last night by a jury which deliberated almost 11 hours. These 12 people decided he must pay with his life for torturing pretty Mary Busch James with rattlesnakes and drowning her in a bathtub.

Nerves, frayed by the long trial, gave way on every hand when the fatal verdict was read. Defense attorneys clamped shut their jaws and vowed they'd carry the case to the supreme court—Lois Wright, James' young niece with whom he was arrested on a morals charge, wept hysterically—Charles Hope, the confessed "hypnotized henchman," blanched white.

All but James. The man whose life is forfeited smiled wanly and said: "I can take it." That was all. Perhaps the calmest person in the crowded courtroom, the enigma man was led unflinching back to his cell.

Officials accompanying the team who presumably should have set a good example to all aboard but failed to do so.

"Not only was social activity on the upper deck such that the athletes as a whole received scant attention from the committee, but official members of the committee themselves disgraced themselves during a performance given on the ship for the athletes.

Shocking Entertainment

"I refer to a mock marriage and mock trial performance ostensibly given as an entertainment feature but which was so shocking many athletes walked out of the salon.

"The trial was presided over by Gustav Kirby, who so handled dialogue having to do with a marital situation that it was an open question whether interpretation and together unsuitable for youthful ears.

"Reaction to the whole show was the talk of the ship for days.

"There was no general rule against athletes drinking. The bar was open day and night in the section where the athletes were quartered, and on one occasion at least, this bar did not close until after midnight.

"Under such conditions how did the American Olympic committee think it could maintain discipline as it appeared to desire, or condemn me for not making a secret of the fact I like champagne.

"They told me if I wanted to drink I should merely be more careful. In fact they said it would be all right as long as they didn't see me."

While lucrative contracts were dangled before Mrs. Jarrett, she stated this afternoon she "definitely will not turn professional at this time."

This was interpreted as meaning she would at least stay in Berlin to see the games before taking advantage of any of the offers.

would make an important arrest. Almost on the dot he disclosed he had Professor Clevenger in custody "for questioning". He made it clear no charge had been lodged against the professor.

Clevenger had been the slain girl's companion during the three weeks that preceded the tragedy. The girl, whose home was in Great Falls, Staten Island, had come to North Carolina for her vacation, stopping first at Raleigh, where Professor Clevenger lived with a brother, C. B. Clevenger, and his wife.

The young co-ed arrived in Raleigh on June 22 and remained there until July 6, when Professor Clevenger, who is connected with the dairy division of the state agricultural department, had to make a business tour of the state. Miss Clevenger went along.

They checked into the Battery Park hotel on July 11. He was assigned to room 231, the girl to room 224.

Sheriff Brown, announcing the latest developments in the co-ed slaying, said to a score or more of reporters:

"Wolner has been released. He may be questioned again.

"Clevenger is being held for questioning.

"We are still holding Gaddy.

"I had hoped to have a confession by this time. We have had no confession as yet. There may be no development in this respect for a week or ten days."

Asked if Clevenger was under arrest, Sheriff Brown replied:

peril. Pan Sebastian, Bilbao, Seville (an inland city on a navigable river), Malaga, Barcelona and Tarragona, thus far have witnessed such activity, the state department was informed.

Chief cause for relief in Washington came with assurance that American Ambassador to Spain Claude G. Bowers and members of his staff are safe at San Sebastian.

Ambassador Safe

Cut off from the summer embassy at his home at Puente de Ibañeta, five miles away, no word had been received of Bowers and his family since the fighting began. Severed telephone lines, barricaded roads patrolled by heavily armed contending forces, and a pitched battle made it impossible for him to be reached. Last night, however, the state department succeeded in penetrating the crippled communications system and reached Bowers by telephone. The ambassador reported that he and members of his staff are safe.

Two U. S. Warships Arrive

Meanwhile, two American warships arrived at San Sebastian a few hours after a British vessel had removed all Americans desiring to leave, Bowers reported.

Although the French embassy was damaged by shell fire and stray bullets frequently struck the hotel where the American chancery is located, no Americans were injured in the fighting, Bowers disclosed.

The only casualties reported to the state department were the wounding of an unidentified American woman at Guadarrama and the death of a clerk of the American consulate and his British chauffeur in Barcelona.

More credit is due our militia for its courage and high morale. The rebels have been defeated not by regular government forces—that is, the army and navy—but by the same element that defeated Napoleon. This is man's unconquerable love of freedom.

This is really a fight between military revolt and popular revolution. We ourselves—the government—are fighting for Democracy, but we cannot forecast at present what course the peoples' revolution may take after having helped the government defeat the military revolt.

Outcome of the revolt is bound to have repercussions beyond our frontiers—wherever there is conflict between Fascism and Democracy.

victory in retaliation for a government announcement two days previously that three unnamed rebel warships had been sunk by loyal planes. In all probability this announcement was as false as the others.

To Sweep Straits

Bombardment of Ceuta was the first move in a government attempt to sweep the straits of Gibraltar of rebel control. Ceuta was one of the first cities to fall in insurgent hands when General Francisco Franco launched the revolt in Morocco.

Shortly after this attack began, government airplanes bombed Algeciras and La Linea. Explosion of the bombs was clearly heard in Gibraltar and columns of smoke gave evidence of the damage wrought.

Americans Held In Madrid

Washington, July 25.—Every avenue of escape from revolt-torn Spain has been closed for the 120 Americans sheltered in the American embassy at Madrid.

Eric C. Wendelin, third secretary in charge of the embassy, reported to Secretary of State Hull by telephone this morning that there is no chance to evacuate the Americans from Madrid.

Only one possibility of evacuation ever existed, Wendelin said—through Portugal—and that has now been closed.

Three Hundred Killed

St. Jean De Luz, France, July 25.—Three hundred were killed in San Sebastian during five days of bitter fighting for control of the resort, it was stated by refugees arriving here today. The town remains in loyal hands.

Paris, July 25.—Spanish government troops compelled rebel artillery to retreat at Sierra Guadarrama today after a sharp encounter, the newspaper Intransigent reported.

The rebels are attempting to capture Somo Sierra, which commands Madrid's water supply and where Napoleon met defeat at the hands of guerrilla Spaniards.

The newspaper reported the cruiser, Almirante Cervera and three gun-boats had gone over to the rebel side. Government planes bombed Algeciras and La Linea.

Gibraltar, July 25.—British authorities today ordered several hundred Spanish refugees here to return to Spain immediately because of fears of an epidemic and lack of accommodation.

At least 350 were political refugees who found themselves in a grave dilemma since they dare not return to their country.

Gibraltar was crowded with revolt refugees of many nationalities. Authorities felt the limited room should be given to non-Spaniards.

birds, will be shipped out for release by game protectors this summer. The male birds mentioned are to be released in the spring. This system was followed last year with success.

There was one less setting of eggs this year than last but the hatching percentage was higher. Last year 31,000 chicks were produced. The eggs not set at the farm were shipped to sportsmen for hatching.

WPA workers are engaged in constructing four new sections of covered fields. A dozen or so men have been on the job every day.

When this work is completed there will be a total of 13 acres under wire. It will be in these holding fields that the male birds for spring release will be kept. They will be safer than they would be in open fields and there will be no need to clip their wings.

SUSAN WALLACE AND DONALD E. RIGBY WED

Quiet but impressively celebrated, was the wedding which took place Friday evening, July 24, in the home of Mrs. Clarence Wallace, Adams street, when her daughter, Susan, became the bride of Donald E. Rigby, son of Mrs. George Rigby, of Lincoln Avenue, at 7:30 o'clock, before an assemblage of guests including the immediate families of the young couple, relatives and friends, numbering fifty.

The vows were pledged in the living room before an embankment of varicolored garden flowers in abundance, set off by a background of green foliage, with the Rev. Chester T. R. Yeates, pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church, officiating. The single ring service was used. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Charles G. Lindner, played "O Promise Me." At this time, Mrs. David G. Harris, an aunt of the groom, sang beautifully "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly" with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lindner contributing the piano and violin accompaniment.

The Lohengren Wedding March was played as the bridal party entered, and for the recessional Mrs. Lindner chose the Mendelssohn Wedding March. Throughout the ceremony, she played softly, appropriately music.

For her wedding, the bride selected a semi-formal peach starched lace creation, floor length and she carried an arm bouquet of orchids and Johanna Hill roses. A distinguished note, was the solid gold brooch she wore at the neckline, a prized possession of her grandmother, the late Mrs. Susan Hay, that is over a half century old.

Her sister, Helen Wallace, was the only attendant. As maid of honor she was attired in orchid chiffon toe length and her arm bouquet was made up of gladioli and tallisman roses. John E. Rigby of Beaver Falls served his brother as best man.

Immediately following, an informal reception was held in the Wallace home, and a wedding lunch was served. The dining table was attractively arranged with the traditional tiered wedding cake surmounted with a bride and groom in miniature adorning the center. Other appointments suggesting the nuptial motif, further carried out a pink and white color theme.

Later in the evening, Mr. Rigby and his bride departed on a week's motor trip and upon returning will reside at 1023 Adams street. For traveling, Mrs. Rigby wore a smart brown net ensemble with white accessories. He is employed with the Pennsylvania Engineering Works of this city.

"THE AMERICA THAT IS TO BE"

Governor Landon's straightforward pledge to wrest the government of the United States from continued control of experimenters and to restore it to the people, its traditional guardians, rings out as an inspiring assurance to every man, every woman and every child in this country that the shining vision of "the America that is to be" has not been destroyed by the New Dealers.

So clear in meaning, so definitive in its declaration of purposes and yet so devoid of rancor and ill-will was the governor's address in acceptance of the Republican presidential nomination that it merits a place of unsurpassed distinction in American political literature. Mr. Landon's calm expression of undeviating faith in his nation's destiny and of the ideals which he seeks to rekindle in the hearts of the people came like a refreshing breeze to sweep away the fogs and murk of the administration's alien philosophies.

Landon's America, "the America that is to be," is not a monarchy, not a Fascist dictatorship, not a regimented Communism. It is a land of plenty, a land of opportunity, a land of freedom from governmental interference.

The course mapped by Governor Landon toward the fulfillment of the nation's destiny should appeal to all loyal Americans, whether they call themselves liberals, progressives or conservatives, Republicans or Constitutional Democrats. His election as president will go far toward re-establishing the United States as the most prosperous country and the strongest moral force among the nations of the earth.

WOMEN AS GOOD DRIVERS

Women as a whole are just as good automobile drivers as men. But the average housewife is a better driver than the woman who works in business.

These two conclusions have been reached by the American Automobile Association after a study of returns in its contest to select the representative safe driver in each of the 48 states and the District of Columbia.

The analysis of the returns shows that the housewives entered have driven more than 11,000,000 miles as compared to slightly more than 7,000,000 miles for women "office" entrants. It was found that the average housewife is a careful driver, while her sister in business is inclined to be a little more reckless behind the wheel. The A. A. A. found it was not unusual to find women drivers who have recorded from 200,000 to 500,000 miles on speedometers since they took control of the wheel, without mishap. These records are just as good as records by male drivers.

PAINTING THE LILY

Whatever tends to make the human race more beautiful to behold is worthy of approval. Take rouging, for example. This practice, dating from the Old Testament times, when it was not so well thought of by the prophets of that day, has now come to be generally recognized as proper in all circles of society. But it appears that the girls of the present era are a bit uneducated in the proper selection, not to mention the application, of rouge. The appearance of many women is marred by the use of the wrong shades or by an exaggerated application. But all this will be changed if the advice given the American Home Economics Association is followed.

A government economist told the association that extension instructors should teach girls how to select rouge, and presumably how to apply it when so selected. It is devoutly to be hoped that the girls will accept the advice and follow it. Then the deserts and the oases will blossom as the rose; the shrinking violet will no longer cast its sweetness on the desert air; and the lily will bloom in softly shaded pink. The beauty of the already beautiful will be thereby enhanced.

CORN ON THE COB

When the crickets have fully launched their orchestral din, in early August or thereabouts, the season of corn on the cob bursts into full flower. While nature, gaudily adorned with garlands of hollyhocks, is slightly dotty with the heat, while the summer girl proudly displays her semi-Ethiopian complexion down to an indefinite boundary line well below her shoulderblades, the serious-minded majority of mankind grows ecstatic at intervals to good purpose. For, at the doubly welcome dinner hour, it experiences its highest earthly happiness, emulating its little brothers, the rodents, by gnawing tenderly toothsome ears of Golden Bantam, Golden Sweet, Evergreen, Country Gentleman or what you will, sublimely ignoring the rivulets of melted butter trickling from its composite chin.

The practical citizen takes salutary precautions in anticipation of that rapturous time. Waving decadent table manners haughtily aside, he tucks a corner of his napkin into his collar before lifting from his plate a bit gingerly with both hands, a steaming, but not quite red hot, ear of corn. After having anointed it with butter—as lovingly as copiously—and added a judicious sprinkling of salt. Then he bites valorously into the cylindrical treasure and engages in rapturous chomping and in sighing expressive of paradisaical content. As the enchanted moments go dancing by, the dreamy-eyed diner builds, with denuded cobs piled reverently one by one upon his plate, a monument to Elysian joy.

Corn on the cob is the quintessence of summer. Some barbarians brutally shear off the delicious, flavor-filled grains with knives instead of gnawing them off in a spirit of devotion. Others thrust bits of pronged metal into the ends of the ears to hold them by, thus assuming caddishly an air of aloofness if not superiority, toward those luscious prizes. Some, professing aversion to the buttering of their countenances from ear to ear in feasting with decent enthusiasm on that choicest of viands, merely nibble at the noble provender or even stonily resist its virtuous enticements. All such degenerate Americans surely are unworthy to practice the great midsummer table rite of this sovereign, corn-fed people.

Let's see! Whatever became of the chap they used to call the "Brown Bomber?"

In Japan this is the year of the Mouse, presumably meaning Japan's forgotten man.

Approach of the election finds Borah back on the reservation, which he never left.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The Socialists led by Norman Thomas as their presidential nominee are ambitious to make a better showing than the miscellaneous crowd back of Congressman William Lemke's candidacy in the coming election.

Of course they are too sensible to expect to carry a state, but they do think they may be able to pile up a bigger popular vote than the North Dakota Independent. While others are asking, "Will Lemke draw more heavily from Democratic or Republican strength?" (and generally predicting that the Democrats will feel the drain worse), the Socialists are querying, "How much can we draw from Lemke?"

They are fairly hopeful. Booned as he was at the Cleveland gathering of Townsends and their affiliates the Socialists folk believe that Thomas, their leader, made an impression.

LOOK FOR DISHARMONY

They have their doubts that the Lemkes if ever really united will hold together the campaign through.

Their theory is that Lemke, the Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin, Dr. Francis E. Townsend and the Rev. Gerald L. Smith will fall to quarreling among themselves in the (Continued on Page Five)

MUST WE EAT A PECK OF DIRT?

I was told, when I was younger, that I'd have to eat a peck of dirt before I died.

But I didn't believe it—and I don't believe it now.

I didn't like dirt. Not enough to eat it, anyway. Dirt was something you got on your hands and face and washed off when your mother insisted you couldn't come to the table unless you did. But it wasn't anything to eat. It was dry and it became muddy, it was gritty and you choked on it. Why did I have to eat a peck of dirt before I died? What nonsense!

I didn't believe it. I've been told that every man has his price, that hardly a man will stand firm if you dangle a big enough price before his greedy eyes.

I've been told that you mustn't expect much from life because it is a cheat and a snare—that you grow old and get pains here and there and your vital organs break down and that finally you know it is a tragedy and a ghastly trap.

I don't believe it.

I've been told that all love ends sooner or later in boredom or hatred, that the sweet dream lifts at last and leaves a man and a woman standing face to face, glaring at each other—as enemies.

I've been told that you must accept these things, that if tragedy comes it can't be helped because the world is made in such a way that it disintegrates and breaks down and drifts inevitably toward decay and unhappiness.

I don't believe it.

I have heard in many, many ways that, we must all, at last choke down our peck of dirt—that we must all eat it, whether we like it or not, that each of us before he comes to the final dust must eat a peck of lost illusions and broken dreams and rotting faith.

But I don't believe it.

TALKED TOO MUCH

A rent collector had been waylaid and robbed. A young fellow was arrested and charged with the crime. He stoutly maintained his innocence. Despite the efforts of his counsel to keep him quiet, the prisoner constantly interrupted while the prosecutor was giving evidence.

"How much did you say there was in the bag?" the prosecutor asked.

"I am not quite sure, but I should say over $20," was the reply.

"That's another lie!" blurted out the prisoner, "there wasn't $15."

And he was surprised when the verdict went against him.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
A Washington, D. C., Post-Office Clerk, nettled at the many questionnaires he has been asked to fill out and return to Congress or to organization headquarters, has suggested to secretary of the National Federation of Post-Office Clerks, the following draft of a questionnaire, which he says more nearly meets the needs of the government clerks than any other yet proposed:

1. Are you married or single? Why?

2. Do you drink near-beer? Why?

3. What is your favorite flower?

4. If a box clerk, are you troubled with insomnia?

5. Did you withdraw any money from the bank during the past year? Where did you get it to put in?

6. Does your wife play the piano? What effect does this have on your rent?

7. Are you a light eater or heavy? If heavy, state how and why.

8. Has your yearly expenditure for rent increased since the shortage of houses prevents frequent moving?

9. Are you on friendly terms with your relatives? Why?

10. If possible, give the name of someone less intelligent than yourself, yet making more salary.

11. State average monthly grocery bill and payments if any.

12. State briefly (no profanity allowed) what your wife thinks of being married to a post-office clerk.

13. Do you drink and where do you get it? (This information will be treated as confidential.)

14. Exclusive of bartenders, how many people depend on you for support?

15. Do you keep chickens? Does your wife know about it?

16. Does your wife take in washing to help support the family? Have you suggested this to her? If so, state results and name of hospital.

17. What do you think is a fair salary for a good worker? For yourself?

Well, anyway, the ages of sin are holding up fairly well.

Who coined the word "Fatherland"? The Germans, we think. But here is Isaac D'Israeli, in 1824, writing that he "introduced it into the language, and," he says, "I have lived to see it adopted by Lord Byron, by Mr. Southey, and even a lady has given it to a song."

And then he says he got it while living in the Netherlands, from a book of "Vaderlandsche Historie," the history of Fatherland! Not much German about that, but pure Dutch and rescued by an Englishman and a Jew.

Maybe it is because doctors disagree as to whether one should stuff or starve a cold that so many people try to flood it.

Police were called to a church property in Mercer county because gamblers were carrying for their stuff on the church property. Gamblers like a nice quiet place to work their stuff.

People's ignorance causes them a lot of harm, but not as much as knowing so many things that ain't so.

Drouth Areas Besiege Tugwell
Farm Relief Plans Are Mapped
Canadian Wheat Is Bought UpBy LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

REXFORD G. TUGWELL has been the most widely sought man in the drouth regions.

The undersecretary of agriculture, together with Resettlement Administration experts, has been going through the drouth regions, organizing the government's efforts.

Everywhere men, high and low, have come to him with pleas and advice.

He has speeded up immediate efforts. But it is the long-term program that interests the experts most—far it is in the long-term program that future of a large part of American agriculture rests.

This program, which undoubtedly will be announced by President Roosevelt himself, promises to be a high spot of the presidential campaign.

It is expected that a majority of the farm organizations will support it to the hilt.

A DREAMER?
When President Roosevelt announced his tree belt plan, oppositionists laughed at him as a dreamer.

Today, the Republicans who killed appropriations, in the closing hours of congress, for carrying on the plans, are having the dreams—bad dreams.

Shelter belts are looming as a necessity.

SAVING TREES
Tree blights are being wiped out by intensively organized forces of CCC workers.

They are trained to go as an army through the woods, each group to perform its own particular task in the wake of experts.

DECENTRALIZING AAA
This is in the Wall Street Journal is of some interest to farmers as to Wall Street.

In the next ten days or two weeks, governors of the various states will receive from the Agricultural Adjustment Administration outlines of a model law for states wishing to obtain federal soil conservation subsidy for their farmers.

This will not be the first time an agency of this administration has prepared legislative recommendations of the states. The Public Works Administration drafted state laws to enable the states to take full advantage of PWA grants.

Under the terms of the Soil Conservation Act, the AAA was provided with $500,000,000 to pay farmers for improving their lands. These activities, however, will come to an end on Dec. 31, 1937. After that, the program goes on to a state basis, with grants provided for states inaugurating farm programs in agreement with the terms of the act, namely, the improvement of soil and the reestablishment of the ratio between farm and industrial purchasing power. However, the state plan must meet with the approval of the secretary of agriculture.

Thus far, only four states, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and South Carolina, have put the necessary laws through their respective legislatures. These laws, as a general rule, meet with the approval of the AAA.

EFFECTS OF DROUTH
Effects of the drouth are recorded in the commodity column of the Wall Street Journal.

The northwest spring wheat harvest is now beginning prematurely in North Dakota. Minneapolis has received its first car of new wheat, strangely enough good quality 58 pounds coming from Oslo, Minn., in the Red river valley. This wheat brought 15 cents over Minneapolis September futures, or close to $1.35 a bushel, which is a good price for the lucky farmer.

Many farmers in that area, however, are 50 per cent to 90 per cent ruined as to crops. From Fargo, N. D., H. C. Donovan, crop expert, wired that "all the way from Minot to here wheat has been prematurely ripened and harvesting of the crop, such as it is, is under way. In some spots where straw is tall enough, especially in the Red river valley, binders are at work, but in most fields they are using flax attachments on their windrows and then it is stocked. Those who have combines are using them for themselves and neighbors. In this way, farmers are endeavoring to salvage every bushel and straw possible in fields yielding as low as two bushels per acre, which is unprecedented. Possibly this will likewise be done in parts of Canada."

"Illustrating the scarcity of new wheat in the northwest are two items: First, northwest mills are stocking up on southwest hard winter wheat. Second, several hundred thousand bushels of durum wheat from Canada, already at seaboard and lower lake ports as far down as Montreal, are being brought back to Duluth and Superior for use in the United States. Original expectations, of course, were that this wheat would be exported, but northwest buyers are offering prices sufficient to cover freight and handling charges back. To some observers, the situation indicates that practically all Canada's durum crop may find its way across the border."

course of their prospective speaking tour of the country and furnish a ridiculous exhibit of disharmony. Parenthetically, Lemke is given credit for the possession of some political sense, but no such allowance is made for the two clergymen or for the doctor.

That Lemke will have enough authority to keep the other three in line is questioned.

The Norman Thomasites reckon that with a three or four-way split in the so-called third party, its disapparent vote will not amount to much; that the Socialists will figure as the real third party—formally, as to the future, which is what they are banking on, not on the coming election.

A Union township young man today was preparing to sail shortly for far-away Japan to assume a responsible teaching position in a school attended mostly by children of the American consular staff here. The young man is Francis Rech, who lives at 12 Grove avenue.

Rech will board the Empress of Asia at Vancouver, British Columbia, about August 8 for the voyage across the Pacific to his new post of duty. He will be joined in the city of Korea, at a school known as Pyongyang.

At his home yesterday it was learned that the local youth has been chosen through a foreign missionary organization to instruct children of the American consulate in health education, general science and English.

Rech is ready to go, or will be within a day or so, a member of his family reported Friday. 'He will remain in Korea for three years. School over there starts about the same time as ours here, for their term begins in September.'

Young Rech is a graduate of Union township high school and Slippery Rock State Teachers college.

One Of Largest Illegal Stills Found Recently In Mine In Luzerne County

(Philadelphia News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 25—Abandoned coal mines have been pressed into service to hide bootleg liquor stills, according to federal agents in charge of tax collections in Pennsylvania.

One of the largest stills seized recently—a plant near Freehold in Luzerne county—was hidden in an abandoned "slope" coal mine so that the operators said, that its detection was well nigh a miracle.

With a daily capacity of 1,500 gallons, the still was constructed and concealed at an estimated cost of $50,000.

Investigators found huge pits had been dug out for the boiler and vat rooms and then covered with 10 feet of dirt. Steel beams and two-inch planks supported the tons of gravel on top. When it was put into operation, the plant offered no outward sign of activity although seven men were needed for capacity operation, it was said. The vicinity of the place was disguised as totally barren ground.

The ability to finance such an elaborate set-up, agents declared, is indicative of the power of organized gangs being fought by federal and state authorities and of the capital at bootleggers' command.

PORTSMOUTH, O., July 25.—Authorities arrested five union steel workers Friday on first degree murder charges and nine other participants in the 52-day Wheeling Steel corporation strike pleaded innocent to indictments charging them with violence.

TITUSVILLE, Ja., July 25.—During the night a severe electrical storm struck Titusville and caused considerable damage. Lightning hit a 6,000 barrel tank of the Crew-Levick company causing it to burst into flames and destroying three thousand barrels of bright stock, 65 per cent gasoline content, amounting to about $50,000.

This was one of Titusville's most spectacular fires, and took place a short distance from East Main street.

OIL CITY, Pa., July 25.—Still living in the home which they erected half a century ago at 133 River street, John A. Anderson, 91, and his wife, who will be 90 in November, will celebrate their seventieth wedding anniversary on Sunday. The couple was married in Sweden, July 26, 1866, and moved to this country shortly afterward.

Mr. Anderson has been retired from the Pennsylvania railroad for 15 years. He has five daughters and one son living, and 29 grandchildren and 25 great-grandchildren.

Robert E. McMillen, 106 Hillcrest avenue, has been placed with the Gulf Oil corporation by the placement bureau of the University of Pittsburgh, it was learned today. McMillen, a graduate of Pitt in this year's class, majored in petroleum engineering.

Spain's Rebels Pause In Drive Toward Madrid

Announce Provisional Government With "Liberal Republican" Head

RADIO MESSAGES CONFUSE PUBLIC
Believe Real Aim Of Rebels
Is For Restoration Of Monarchy In Nation

BURGOS, Spain, Northern Rebel Headquarters, July 25.—Spain's rebels paused in their "push" toward Madrid today, long enough to announce a provisional government with General Miguel Cabanellas, told International News Service it was "liberal Republican."

Flying here from Saragossa, where he was commander of the garrison, Cabanellas spoke from a balcony to a crowd of several thousands of women, children and old men and immediately thereafter received this correspondent for his first interview.

In Madrid Soon
Cabanellas is distinguished by an enormous but carefully trimmed snow-white beard and bushy white eyebrows under which eyes of navy blue look out trustfully. He has a courtly manner and wears with a grandfatherly air a big revolver in a white and red belt.

"It is only a matter of days before we get to Madrid," he declared. "I personally mobilized entire Aragon and every man is with me. In Saragossa I gathered vast lots of war material and enlisted 12,000 men in my militia."

Incidentally, it was these 12,000 men, representing the largest single unit of rebels, which led to Cabanellas' selection as head of the provisional government.

"I have not yet completed my government, which is only a provisional one," said Cabanellas, handing me a list of ministers so far chosen. They are four generals—Saliquet, Ponte, Mola and De Alira, and two colonels, Montasero and Moreno Calderon, all except Cabanellas himself well-known monarchists.

Liberal Republican
But Cabanellas is an old-fashioned liberal Republican.

"I am only provisional president of a provisional government whose duty is to prepare a military dictatorship for a period of turmoil," he said. "But please do not make the common error of thinking our movement is monarchist. No, no. It is not monarchist and not Fascist."

"All my life I have been a Republican, and I intend to remain a Republican."

"I shall establish for whole Spain a liberal Republic, which to me means an anti-Marxist Republic. Our only interest is a greater Spain."

I asked why General Francisco Franco, initiator and leader of the revolt from Morocco, had not blamed the new cabinet.

"Because we are unable to communicate directly with him," Cabanellas said.

See Political Rivalry
Political observers behind the front line, however are inclined to believe this is due to rivalry between the Burgos crowd and Franco's group.

"If it is to be a liberal republic," I asked, "what about elections and when will you hold them?"

The general's hands went up in a gesture of shock and surprise. "Premature," he explained.

As a matter of fact, a monarchist coalition is running the rebel movement but they are putting a Republican ticket at the head while fighting continues after which, when and if they win, it is without doubt their intention to restore a monarchy with the third son of Alfonso, Don Juan, as king.

Confusion among the population brought about by thumping radio propaganda from both sides has become intolerable.

Report Guillotine Set Up
According to a Burgos report, the Reds have set up a guillotine in the Puerta Del Sol, Madrid's famous central square, while looting and fighting continues, but the Madrid radio station declares the city is completely calm.

Population of rebel territory received a shock last night when President Azaña broadcast from the presidential palace in Madrid that there was no fighting in the streets. The rebels had repeatedly broadcast that Azaña had fled and was in hiding.

Madrid broadcast today that "the rebels have been completely annihilated" while a rebel station flared back "Madrid lies."

Thus the Spanish air has become an inferno of clamor and curses. All day long when political propaganda is not being broadcast, radio stations send out blaring music to kill enemy broadcasts.

Rebel "Push" Enthusiasm Decreases
Meanwhile, momentum of the rebel "push" diminished today and neutral observers felt it possible the first flare up of enthusiasm, might die before it moved to Madrid.

Action today was chiefly aerial. There were 300 casualties when rebel airplanes bombed the central square of Villaria De Alava, where Madrid troops had gathered. Five airplanes from Burgos flew over Madrid and bombed government troops while the Sierras were often bombed by an enemy contingent from Guadarrama.

The wildest news of the whole war came from Castile, where he station broadcast that a "Russian warship" had bombed Ceuta and that England had declared she is saving their country—namely the rebels.

In addition, the broadcaster said England had announced she would bombard "any Russian vessel found loitering about the Spanish coast."

With this kind of "news" Spanish folk are belated day and night in a civil war which is driving them literally to distraction.

All three of the men soloed after approximately five hours of dual instruction by Findley Wilson. Before the students are allowed to take a plane aloft they must pass a satisfactory oral examination on the air traffic rules given by the instructor.

They are also during the course of instruction given experience in recovering from stalls, side slips and simulated forced landings. All three of the young men did a fine job of flying and expect to keep on building up flying hours and later secure their private or commercial licenses.

Four Injured In Motor Crashes

Two Of Four Confined In Hospital; One Fined By Squire Reynolds

There were several motor vehicle accidents during the past 24 hours on Lawrence county highways in which four persons were injured, three of whom required hospital treatment.

Following the accidents they were sent to the Jameson hospital. Two of them are yet confined to the institution, according to the highway patrol.

Russell H. Patterson, of Meadville, with E. H. Auburn, of 209 Park avenue, this city, were enroute on the East Brook road to New Castle at 5 a. m. today. The driver got lost in the fog, missed a curve and the car overturned. Both Patterson and Auburn received cuts and are still in the hospital.

Rains Forecast For Corn Belt

Corn Belt Farmers Hopeful
That Rains Will Chase
Drought Away

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, July 25.—With widespread rains forecast farmers in the northern part of the corn belt looked forward today to a definite letup of the drought.

Little or no relief was in prospect, however, for South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas. Temperatures in the latter state maintained their burning intensity with 120 being recorded yesterday at Phillipsburg.

Beside being afflicted with the drought, South Dakota farmers are being menaced with an increasing number of prairie fires that spread swiftly through the inter-dry fields. Hundreds of acres have been blackened recently in the range country in the southern part of the state.

Harry Fowler, 23, New Castle R. D. 6, received cuts and bruises at 1:30 a. m. today when the motorcycle he was driving struck a stone in the road in front of the A. T. & T. station, New Castle-Youngstown road. He was tossed from the motorcycle and underwent treatment in the hospital.

NEW YORK, July 25—Having just completed a research for another spot, into the art, mystery and personality of Miss Gypsy Rose Lee, "the greatest strip dancer in the world," I am, as it were, full of my subject. I believe there is more to be said about this saucy gal and her fantastic vocation, and if you will shoo the children off to bed and turn down the radio, I propose to say it.

Now the mere words "strip dancer" and "strip tease" are apt to summon horrified gasps from the family circle. The curious fact is that Gypsy is not only no more immodest than any of the chorus girls who prance across the stages of the swank revues and night clubs out-of-town, she is actually, in a technical sense, no more revelatory of her charms than many impeccable ladies in evening dress who swoosh around the city constantly—and across country club ballroom floors throughout the land, for that matter.

The more curious fact is that Gypsy has reached the apex of her profession by being more restrained and mindful of draughts than any of her sister practitioners. She has become the greatest strip dancer—or rather, the highest paid—in town because she has consistently removed less of her covering. Shortly she goes into the "Ziegfeld Follies" and becomes an American institution, along with Dr. Townsend and the tossing of pop bottles at ball games.

Therefore, for any serious student of the fauna and flora of 1936 Manhattan Gypsy Rose Lee is rapidly becoming a "must." I am myself immune to her art; I find it, if the truth must out, excruciatingly dull—along with that of all the other strip dancers. But she is herself an engaging young woman, utterly without self-consciousness, and it is certainly true that the Park Avenue set is giving her and some others of her calling a big rush.

Where did she come from and how did she arrive in her present eminence (she makes $1,000 and more weekly)?

She was born in Seattle, Wash.

ington, and her mother took her to Hollywood and got her a job in the early cinema as the child actress in "Daddy Long Legs" with Mary Pickford—so you see early environment could not have had anything to do with her trend. Her career as a strip dancer began in Chicago by accident; she had some trouble with a recalcitrant evening gown's shoulder straps and the audience applauded.

It is perhaps, a tip-off on the state of mind of this age when Gypsy says she changed her name (from Hovick) because she did not want her grandfather to find out what she was doing. Not her parents (her mother is her constant cheering section) but her grandfather! It shows you how far back into the past the conservatives are retreating.

Mr. Jean Cocteau, the professional esthete from Paris, recently visited here and declared that strip dancing was a marvelous, vital art form. This seems to me to be the sheerest nonsense. But certainly it is catching on. The afternoon I interviewed Miss Lee another reporter had been there earlier and several pundits were doing learned essays on her for the uppy magazines.

What does it all mean? Is the moral tone of the land and specifically of New York, (assuming the town ever has had a falling?) I doubt it. I suspect, rather, that the bored gentry of the penthouse brigade have pounced upon another source of material for a fad.

It will rage and roar for a while and Gypsy is in the top flight because she is a smart gal, with a flair for satire and a handsome one. But she had better continue her elocution studies and keep an eye toward dramatic acting (she has a mellow and well modulated voice so that when the smartest take up bagatelle or bagpipes she will be prepared.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

LIES TO PARENTS

We parents generally agree in our objectives. We often differ in our way of trying to arrive at them. A fact which very many conscientious parents overlook is that, no matter how desirable the goal, we may do more harm than to miss that goal in our zeal to arrive at it. Often we miss it anyway and do all the harm also. It is possible to miss the goal and lose the child. Always we are faced with very practical problems. I beg to submit a letter from a worried mother for your consideration. I have tried to persuade this mother to change her methods, probably with no avail. What do you think of the doctor's advice? What would you have advised this mother?

"Dear Dr. Myers: We are very much concerned about our daughter, and your article today prompted me to write to you. She is not a child, but you may be able to help. She was 18 last January and a freshman in the university. We have always held for the truth, and so far as we know, until her second year in high school, she was truthful to us.

"She is an only child, good looking, good personality, and very good natured. We had no trouble with her up to the last half of her second year in high school. Then she began to lie, lie and lie!

"When I was sure of it, I tried to talk to her and make her see how bad she was making all of us feel, and what her friends would think of her if they could not depend on what she said, but to no avail. She had started to smoke, and she knew we never would have it and I never caught her, so could not prove it, and although I found cigarettes and matches hid, they belonged to this and that boy. I did not see her smoke until last fall, and now the habit is formed after three years of lying, we are just heartbroken and I don't know what to do.

Will Not Have Smoking

"I will not have her smoke. It is the dirtiest, lowest habit a woman can have next to drinking. Her father is a clean man, does neither, and his sisters just worship her and do so much for her, and are just as we, heartbroken . . .

"I have begged, scolded, told what it would do to her, tried to hire her, but to no purpose. Last fall she had a sick spell, and would not quit, after the doctor told her she must; and while she was in the hospital gave her something to sicken her of them. But after she got out she went on at it worse than ever.

"She was home Sunday and just saturated with the fumes. . . . The doctor said try this. 'Tell her she will have to stay away from her parents until she can come across clean,' and I did. . . . The doctor is very much disgusted with her. . . . He says she cannot get along without her parents and to send her no money, and see what it would do."

On Court House Hill

The day has finally arrived for the lawyers' picnic which is being held at Moose park in Butler county. Lawyers and court house employees got away shortly before noon today and expected to be at the park in about an hour. By tonight there will be plenty of charley-horses, sprains and bruises from the mosh-ball game between the lawyers and the employees of the court house.

Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts John A. Edgar is back from the fastnesses of Michigan with a first class coat of tan and some weird tales about fishing. But no fish. According to his story they didn't fish the last day on account of a rain and they ate all the fish they had. Which is a good story, anyway.

With the court house dome topped by a gold ball, it can be said now that the court house is back on the gold standard. The painting of the structure under the dome goes on and will be finished some time next week.

The pressure of the crowds in the county treasurer's office gets heavier daily. County Treasurer Joseph Hartland kept open until noon today to give people an opportunity to pay taxes, and Monday and the rest of the days of next week including Friday will probably be a nightmare.

The report sheets in the controller's office show that a heavy share of the money pouring in is delinquent taxes. Not only the county but the city and the school district will profit from this.

County Commissioner Floyd L. Cotton, who has been out investigating relief cases, is still at it and is now about half through his duties. The task is a lengthy one and has kept him busy for the past two months. He will probably not finish until sometime in September. When he does finish, the commissioners will have a fairly clear picture of the relief load they are carrying.

F. E. Trimble, the contractor, who has been awarded the job of repairing and remodeling the West Washington street bridge, expects to get started sometime next week. The work should not take such a long time and will be expedited as much as possible.

From January first of this year until a few days ago, only 24 voters had come into the bureau of registration and changed their registrations due to change of address. Following an article in The News a few days ago, 34 have come in and adjusted their registration. All persons who have moved since they registered must change their registration and this can be done only by going to the court house.

The registration office is open every working day and Thomas C. Edmunds, chief clerk of the bureau, is prepared to make the necessary changes. Quite a number of changes of party are being recorded and it is hoped that the hundreds who have moved will make the changes needed in their registration. After September 3 it will be too late for this year.

Need Permits For Menageries Along Roadside

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, July 25.—Pennsylvania's board of game commissioners today warned owners of roadside menageries that they must obtain permits after August 15 to exhibit live wild birds and wild animals.

In accordance with the law enacted at the present session of the legislature, the commission explained, new regulations governing the display of animals at roadside "zoos" will become effective at the same time as the new permits.

Under the new act, which was sponsored by Gov. George H. Earle, wild animals will no longer be chained or exposed cruelly. Suitable pens must be provided for the protection of the public.

Long Distance Hiker In City

A. P. Bergmann, of Leetsdale, a long distance walker, who has been competing for the past 20 years in walking races, was a visitor in The News on Friday. He was enroute to Sharon, Pa., where he will attend the cornerstone laying of the new P. H. C. building which is a part of the jubilee of the organization.

Mr. Bergmann left Leetsdale early Friday morning and expected to be in Sharon Friday night, where a police escort was to meet him just outside the city.

You can tell when the people are fed up on something. The politicians begin to denounce it.

"WHAT'S the trouble, sonny? Don't you like camping?"

"Aw sure! Campin's swell. Lotsa swimmin' and canoein' and all the hikes an' stuff. I like it fine. Only sometimes I'd like to see Mother and Dad. Gee, if they'd only call up. We got a phone here y'know. Some of the fellas get calls from home.

"Why don't I call them? Uh-uh—nix on that. I wouldn't let on I'm lonesome cuz I promised Dad I wouldn't be. But if Muggsy came down here and told me Mother was on the phone right now—Boy! I'd get up to that phone in one awful hurry, believe me!"

Families scattered by vacations . . . in the Poconos, along the upper Delaware, at Eagles Mere, Conneaut Lake or wherever they may be . . . can keep in touch by telephone. Rates on most long distance calls are reduced all day Sunday and every night after seven.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF PENNSYLVANIA

FINDS RAG WEED MENACES RESORT

(International News Service) KANE, Pa., July 25.—Long herded as a basis of relief for Pennsylvania's "sneezers", this community was shocked recently by a communication from Pittsburgh warning in citizens Kane is in danger of losing its reputation as a hay fever resort.

The communication, which came from A. D. Walter, Pittsburgh advertising executive, who annually visits Kane to get relief from the irritating malady, said: "On a recent visit to Kane, very little exploring showed an abundance of ragweed averaging 6 to 12 inches in height, more ragweed than I have ever seen before in your delightful district."

Walter advocated a campaign to eradicate the weed, pointing out it is on the increase in this section of the country every year. Borough officials said they would take steps immediately to stamp out the menace.

A "living" stone document is one carved from rock which is in the place it has occupied from time immemorial. The Rushmore Memorial in the Black Hills of South Dakota, is such a piece of sculpture.

STATE TO PAINT SIGNS ON ROOFS

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, July 25.—Air-marking projects—several hundred of them—will be started in this district soon under the direction of the Works Progress Administration, Edward N. Jones, WPA administrator for Pennsylvania announced recently.

Sky signs will be painted on the roofs of more than 400 buildings throughout Pennsylvania, he asserted, in a program that will employ nearly 500 men. The federal government has allotted the state $68,000 for the task, Jones said.

Firemen To Play West Middlesex Team On Sunday

Sixth Ward Firemen Tie With Sharpsville Giants Friday Night 6-6

Sixth Ward Firemen and the Sharpsville Giants played to a 6-6 deadlock last night at the Lee avenue field.

Scoring four runs in the first inning, the Sharpsville boys held on to their lead until the late innings when the Firemen "found themselves" and scored three runs in the last inning to tie the contest.

Art "Smoky" Alexander took the mound for the Firemen and hurled a steady game after the first inning when the visitors scored four of their runs. After that Alexander "bore down" and had them under his control. He allowed nine hits and fanned four men.

Will Play Sunday
It was announced today by Manager Zeigler of the Firemen that the Sixth Warders would play the strong West Middlesex Merchants on Sunday afternoon at the Lee avenue field.

Zeigler will choose between Thornton, Witherow and Shelt to toss them against the lads from Mercer county.

The game is scheduled to get under way at 3 o'clock.

Indian Outweighs Grappling Champ

Sunooka And Marshall To Appear In Final Bout Monday Night

BLAKE EXPONENT OF ROPE BOUNCE

Enthusiasts of wrestling have only two more days until they get a sight of a champion in action here. Everett Marshall, heavyweight wrestling king of the world. He is scheduled to meet Chief Sunooka at Centennial field Monday night. Because Marshall is the first heavyweight champion to strut his stuff here, Promoter Peter Askoumes hopes to see his open air arena packed when the first bout starts at 8:30 p. m. Monday.

According to some folk well versed in wrestling Marshall is as good, if not better than some of his predecessors. Some experts place him in the class of Frank Gotch, who tossed Hackenschmidt, Caddock, Stecher, Lewis and London. In addition to having a world of showmanship, he has a bag of holds equal to any possessed by those who preceded him in catch-as-catch-can grappling, they report. One of his greatest boosters is Bill Lion, ex-heavyweight wrestler, now local matchmaker.

His opponent is an Indian whom is said to not actually know his own strength, so when the two meet Monday night the fans should see a real exhibition. The champion is one of the best moulded athletes in the world. The Redskins tips the scales at 320 pounds. Local fans have seen him time and time again in local bouts break holds with apparent ease, and despite his huge bulk skip around the ring with speed seldom displayed by a man of his weight.

The semi-final will find Walter Podolak opposed to Ed. Bafert. It will be the inaugural bout for Bafert in this city. Podolak is no newcomer, he has wrestled here three times. Like Marshall, he has a wonderfully built body and whenever he moves the muscles all through his body ripple like wind driven waves in a stream. Just what Bafert can do to Walter remains to be seen.

Uses Cradle Hold
When Bob Blake takes on Eddie Conley they will see the originator of the chief exponent of the rope bounce. Reports say he entices an opponent into setting a full nelson on him. Then he struggles, evidences pain and distress and gradually allows his opponent to push him about the ring. This sets the stage for the grand coup.

Suddenly Blake surges mightily into the ropes, lifts his feet high as he approaches the hempen strands and kicks back. Invariably the powerful shove will overbalance his opponent and they go crashing to the mat with Blake on top. If this doesn't work successfully Blake attempts to secure a cradle hold for a fall.

The opening bout will be between Don Wolfe of Ohio, and Morris Suber of this city. Suber has been training with Bill Lion this week. Lion has been teaching the local light-heavyweight some tricks and these coupled with his ability, may help Suber crawl farther up the wrestling ladder.

Wrestling was inaugurated here several weeks ago. The crowds have been approximately the same each Monday night. However, with Marshall, a champion in the ring, it is believed that Promoter Peter Askoumes will have a much larger crowd.

As an introductory move in past shows he has permitted 200 women to enter the place free, providing they were accompanied by an escort. However, this week he has been compelled to pay a fat guarantee to the champion and if the reason the "No Free List" sign will be hung up Monday night.

Eleanor Jarrett Would Turn Pro

Offered $2,500 For Exhibitions On Continent If She Turns Pro

SWIMMER BITTER TOWARD COMMITTEE

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

BERLIN, July 25.—Mrs. Eleanor Holm Jarrett may be out of the Olympics, but if so she will be "in the dough" by the simple act of turning pro.

While still clinging to last hopes the Olympic committee, which dismissed her from the squad for breaking training rules, may give her another chance, the back-stroke champion spent a busy morning with booking agents.

Before the luncheon gong sounded, she made a sort of "gentleman's agreement" with a German film and exhibition concern. Under its terms, she will make a couple of reels and stage swimming exhibitions on the continent for a weekly stipend of $2,500 with expenses paid if the Olympic games go on without her.

That's not so bad as Mrs. Jarrett looks at it. And the thing still hangs in the air and will hang until she signs her name on the dotted line of a contract.

May Turn Pro
Prospects of coming out as a pro with a fat contract may influence Mrs. Jarrett to amend the statement she planned to issue giving her side of the episodes aboard the Liner Manhattan which led to her dismissal. She could not afford to risk her popularity as a pro by squealing on other members of the Olympic team even though she feels she was made the goat of the proceedings.

The threat was that she would name the other swimmers and divers who participated in parties aboard the Olympic ship Manhattan, but escaped scot-free when the show-down came upon their arrival at Hamburg.

Refusing to sail today aboard the Bremen, as the Olympic committee told her she must, the backstroke champion fumed.

"I've had enough of this. I wasn't the only violator, by a long shot!" "Yet I am condemned and cast off, while they're out at the Olympic village wearing the American shield."

May Make Statement
"It is my intention to issue a statement not only making the American Olympic committee appear in a far less favorable light than it has to date, but naming some of those athletes they intend to start in the games despite the fact that their conduct was no better than mine."

It was known at the time, but not mentioned, that the comely, 22-year-old Mrs. Jarrett was accompanied by several members of the swimming squad when the committee caught up with her during Thursday's revel.

Two other champions were said to have been involved, but managed to escape an inquiry by declaring they were taking care of Mrs. Jarrett.

Last EveningParents And Friends Fill
Camp East Brook; Girls
Give ProgramCAMPERS WILL GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

Close to 200 visitors filled Camp East Brook Friday night and automobiles occupied every parking space for hundreds of yards. It was the first time the girls had seen their parents and friends since entering the Y. W. C. A. camp last Monday and it was an exciting and enjoyable reunion.

A water carnival had been scheduled for the entertainment of the visitors, but because of the rather chilly weather which followed the rainstorm of the day previous, a last minute change of plans was made and a program was presented in the camp dining room instead.

With Miss Doris Marvin, a camp counselor in charge, an amateur hour was conducted. Gladys Brown and Audrey Bridenbaugh, Crown Hazel Cummings and Jerry Flick, Pat Christian, Leslie Wilson and Peggy Foster offered sketches, and Ruth Moore, of Rochester, gave a vocal solo. Ruth is a member of a Rochester trio that took third place in the state scholastic music contest last spring. Three counselors, Misses Helen Haines, Peggy Griffith and Sylvia Martin, also had parts in the program. Misses Haines and Griffith sang, while Miss Martin portrayed Madame X, wearing monkey-fur hair and carrying the camp dog.

At the close the girls all joined in singing ten or twelve camp songs. Tomorrow they will go to the East Brook M. E. church for morning services. In the evening a candlelight ceremony will be conducted. Monday night a bingo party is scheduled, and if the skies are clear, Archibald Davis is to be there from New Castle to talk to the girls about stars. He will bring a telescope with him and introduce the crowd of girls to their "highnesses," the moon and Jupiter. For next Thursday night a baseball game is promised. The girls are said to be in a white heat about baseball and the Thursday night game is to be the peak and climax of the series. The best players among the girls will vie with the counselors for camp supremacy.

Thursday's storm did not do much damage, it is reported, but the camp received a thorough washing, lost some of its hollyhocks and the telephone was out of commission for the day.

Thursday night in a gala decorated dining room, illuminated by Japanese lanterns, a dance was enjoyed. Miss Clarissa Duff, of the camp staff, was "Tony, the One Day." Appropriately, she had long sideburns, and was dressed in male attire. She played the piano and took care of the drumming at the same time.

Jerry Flick and Jean Waddington, Trudy Matthews and Carol Henderson won prizes for their wait abilities, while Jean Waddington and Sarajane Cleland copped the fox trot honors.

(International News Service)
ZANESVILLE, O., July 25.—Seventeen-year-old Laird Ankrum of Gratiot rested in a comfortable bed today after his harrowing experience of being buried alive for several hours when he was trapped at the bottom of a well by the collapse of its walls.

Rescue workers labored for hours through 17 feet of earth and bricks to reach the boy before suffocation could cause death. With the aid of WPA workers who drove a pipe thru the cave-in to furnish fresh air, they released him and brought him to the surface, apparently suffering no serious injury.

The boy entered the well on the farm of his uncle, Earl Ankrum, near here, to clean it. The walls gave way, covering him with earth and debris. Rescuers said the low water level, due to the drought, saved Laird from drowning.

The Scotland, Wilmington road and Pulaski Women's Christian Temperance unions met at the Wesley M. E. church Thursday for their annual institute. The day's program was presented as follows:

Morning Session
Mrs. W. G. Wilkins, county president, presided. Mrs. Bert Coates led in prayer. The group joined in singing several hymns, with Miss Elizabeth Taylor at the piano. Miss Elizabeth Taylor, flower mission director of Scotland union, then gave a very interesting talk on her work. Dr. Mary Baker spoke on the subject of "Medical Temperance." She said that a moderate drinker is dangerous; that years ago liquor was considered an aid to digestion, whereas now it is found to be harmful; she commended the pure food law, limiting the amount of alcohol in medicine, and added that radio is a menace, as so many medicines are misrepresented over its facilities.

Mrs. Merrill Davis spoke on "A Mother's Responsibility," a very beautiful and inspiring message to mothers. Mrs. Nesbitt of the Wilmington road union led in prayer.

Afternoon Session
Mrs. Nesbitt presided. Mrs. B. Coates was in charge of devotions. Dr. J. A. Galbraith of Epworth M. E. church gave a very forceful and encouraging talk on conditions in general. Mrs. W. G. Wilkins told of the "Highlights of Tulsa," a report of the W. C. T. U. convention in Oklahoma, which she attended. She mentioned also the Frances Willard centenary fund, explaining that most of the money will be used on educational work. The collection was turned over to the Wilmington road centenary fund. The secretary was instructed to write to County Treasurer Hartland commending him for his action in a recent liquor case.

Landon's Support Of Security Of The Home
Makes Appeal To WomenBy WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

TOPEKA, Kas., July 25.—"Governor Alfred M. Landon has won the respect, interest and support of a vast majority of American women by championing 'security of the home' as one of his major issues in the presidential campaign."

This was the united conclusion here today of three Republican women from different sections of the country. They were Mrs. Katharine Kennedy Brown, Republican national committeewoman from Ohio, Mrs. E. C. Little, G. O. P. state vice chairman of Kansas, and Miss Marie Kohler, Wisconsin state chairman for better homes in America.

They agreed the governor, in promising a budget-balancing federal administration which would offer equal opportunity to every person to gain a job, a home, reasonable security and the "right to live according to the American tradition," made a striking appeal to women. House wives and business women, they said, will rally to the Republican standard to support Landon.

Promises Security In Home

Mrs. Brown said:
"The governor promises security in the home, women appreciate what that means because they really are the home-builders. He will have the support of a great majority of women. Women are awakened now. The house-wife and the woman in business are taking an interest in politics. Some, who have never voted although eligible for years, are registering in order to support Landon. They believe the future of their homes rests with Landon."

Mrs. Little, who lives in the rural town of Edwardsville, Kas., said:
"Governor Landon appeals to the wife of a man with a job as well as to the wife of a man on relief. By promising an administration that will provide opportunity for jobs and homes, he appeals directly to every Kansas local election next month."

YOUNG MOTHER SENTENCED TO DIE

Death in the electric chair was the sentence pronounced by a judge at Hollidaysburg, Pa., as he denied new trials to Mrs. Margaret Berkhimer Karmendi, 24, left, and Roy Lockard, 24-year-old WPA worker, right, for the slaying of Mrs. Karmendi's three-year-old son, Matthew, Jr. According to their confessions, which were later repudiated, the couple blamed each other for killing the child with a railroad spike because they feared he would tell Mrs. Karmendi's husband concerning her trysts with Lockard.

WILL SHE BE NEXT MRS. VALLEE?

The name of Rudy Vallee, widely-known orchestra leader, was in the news again following reports by friends that he plans to marry Nella Goodelle, radio singer and pianist, above. Rudy, shown in the inset, neither affirmed nor denied the nuptial rumors. The couple met at the Texas Centennial exposition in Dallas.

Madrid Water Supply To Be Battle Center

H. K. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
(Copyright, 1936, By International News Service)

BURGOS, Spain, Northern Rebel Headquarters, July 25.—The fate of Spain hangs today on a battle for the water supply of Madrid, and in equal degree the fate of Europe hangs upon the fate of Spain.

The flower of Spanish aristocracy is battling with Marxists for control of one spot where the turn of battle may determine the destiny of Spain and therewith the life of Europe.

This spot is Lozoya, 30 miles from Madrid. From this spot the capital obtains its water.

The Madrid reservoirs have barley sufficient for one week's consumption. If Lozoya is taken by the rebel army, Madrid will in seven days be entirely without water and presumably must capitulate.

Hence desperate efforts are being made by the army of monarchists and fascists to take Lozoya. The rebels are now hurling their forces upon this point and Madrid's defenders, fully realizing importance of the engagement, are fighting with their backs to the wall.

If the rebels break through and cut off Madrid's water, the Spanish government will fail. If the rebels fail it means only inevitably that the government of this country will go red.

If Spain goes red then France may go red. If France goes red, Hitler has declared he cannot tolerate a Bolshevik neighbor and must attack.

Holds Fate of Europe

Thus it seems the fate of Europe really does depend upon the combat now raging over control of this obscure water supply station in Spain.

The rebels announced without any shadow of confirmation that Madrid already has been reduced to a condition of plague, with bodies lying about in the streets, uncollected for fear of wild and indiscriminate shooting.

This sort of report deserves no credence, but it would appear probable that the capital is growing short of supplies. It appears uncontradicted that the rebels have surrounded the city and although they are still 50 or 60 miles away, it is cut off from its normal sources of provisions and fuel.

New if its water supply is also stopped, the rebels may well count upon victory. From 10 to 15 miles separate the rebels from control of Madrid's water and the next 48 hours of fighting for those few miles may be fatal for many more than the people of Spain alone.

Pushing Plans For State Convention

Apportioned Amounts For Churches To Defray Expenses Are Announced

The convention committee of the Ministerial Association, of which Dr. S. E. Irvine is chairman, has mailed out letters requesting apportioned amounts to the pastors of all of the churches in Lawrence county to help defray the expenses of entertaining the 74th convention of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association which is to be held at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, New Castle, October 14, 15, 16 of this year.

The first church to respond was the Trinity Episcopal of New Castle, and the second was the First Baptist of New Castle. It is hoped that all of the churches will send in their requested amounts at an early date, so that attention can be centered on working up the largest number of Lawrence county registrations ever reached by an entertaining county.

Plans are also being made to recruit a convention choir from registered delegates from Sabbath schools all over Lawrence county of not less than five hundred voices. This year the convention choir will be seated in the first rows of the Cathedral instead of being on the stage. John W. Owens, who will have charge of the choir, states that this arrangement will be better and will also give those taking part in the singing to better hear the convention messages.

Detention Camp For Youths Being Planned In State

Would Be Erected At Huntingdon Under Proposal Before Legislature

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 25.—An appropriation bill providing for $75,000 to be used in erecting a camp for youthful first offenders at Huntingdon will be brought to the floor of the senate Monday night, administration spokesmen predicted today.

The plan for the detention camp was suggested by Commander John D. Pennington, secretary of welfare, and received a favorable reaction at a hearing before the senate appropriations committee. With the $75,000 earmarked appropriation, plans for the camp could be started at once. Only materials are needed, and the actual work will be done by the boys at Huntingdon Reformatory, many of whom would be transferred to the camp when completed.

Commander Pennington said the camp would be constructed at Huntingdon, although the abandoned Mt. Gretna military reservation had been suggested, because of the "tremendous expense" that would be involved in constructing it at the latter place.

Pennington refrained from comment on another suggestion, made by Judge Ralph Smith of Allegheny county, that the reservation be used for a camp for married prisoners. He did recommend, however, that the reservation be retained by the state "for future use."
